

ABOUT VICKY ARTHURS

Author bio - short

Vicky Arthurs is a poet who writes about family life with warmth and charm. Her first book, Limehaven, is inspired by childhood memories of her grandparents: life's small details captured with love.

Author bio - medium

Vicky Arthurs is a writer and narrator who creates poetry from everyday life. Her first book of poems, Limehaven, is inspired by childhood memories of her grandparents: life's small details captured with love. Vicky performs at festivals and events and has recorded Limehaven as an audiobook.

Author bio - long

Vicky Arthurs is a writer, editor and performer. Her first poetry collection, Limehaven, is inspired by childhood memories of her grandparents: life's small details captured with love. Her poems were first published in the UK by IRON Press.

Vicky performs at festivals and events and has recorded Limehaven as an audiobook. Her festival appearances include Books on Tyne, the Eclectic IRON Literary Festival, and THE IRON AGE Festival. She has also performed at Newcastle Centre for the Literary Arts, Sunderland Museum & Winter Gardens and other arts venues.

Vicky has worked in television, training and publishing. She ran her own business in the personal development sector for ten years and enjoys helping people unlock their creative talents. She lives in the north east of England.

Contact details

Website: www.vickyarthurs.com

Twitter: twitter.com/vickyarthurs

Facebook: www.facebook.com/vickyarthurspoetry

For more information, contact Vicky by email at: writer@vickyarthurs.com